DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election without traverse of claims 1-6 in the reply filed on 8/11/2004 is acknowledged.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Bermes et al. (557514) or Velke et al (5004251, OR 5882020, cited by Applicant), in view of Herr (3485314).

Applicant in the 2nd paragraph discloses that Velke's stowable sulky are known, similarly to Bermes, having a variety of dashboard and handle assembly which also well known and Applicant incorporated Velke's & Wright, Berrios references, as listed in the Specification.

Herr also teaches in col. 1, ln 33-60, that a sulky, platform, trailer can be used for a mower, and further provides a spring biased latch (see fig 7, ref 132, 134, and 136) to receive a protruding member of the sulky/platform/trailer (ref 135) when in stowed position.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide any of the well known, such as Bermes or Velke, mowers with varying dashboard/handle design with the teachings of spring biased latch for a sulky, in order to more easily stow away the sulky.

Art Unit: 3671

Conclusion

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Heyn.
